ALLA'S TRIAL BEGIN IN DENVER TODAY

Experts for the State Declare Murderer of Priest Is Sane.
DEFENSE HAS ENGAGED ALIENISTS OF RENOWN
GREAT INTEREST IN THE CASE AROUSED BY SHOCKING NATURE OF THE CRIME.

Denver, Colo., March 8.—Giuseppe Alla, the priest-killer, will be put on trial in the criminal branch of the district court at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. The shocking nature of his crime—the shooting down of Father Leo Heinrichs, at the altar in St. Elizabeth's Catholic church on Sunday morning, Feb. 23, when he was giving the sacrament, a crime unparalleled in history—aroused thinking people throughout the country and caused them to speculate as to the origin and purpose of the plot, if any existed, that made Father Leo a marked man. Alla is perfectly sane, and this after observing him since his return to this city from Colorado Springs, whether he was taken to avoid possible mob violence.

In Condition to Be Judged.
Alla had practically recovered from the fear of summary vengeance and was in fair condition to be studied by men skilled in detection of mental faults. Notwithstanding public announcement through the press of the results of the observations of the specialists appointed by the district attorney, the defense has engaged three alienists to be present during the trial. They will sit in the court room and observe the defendant for the purpose of detecting any sign of insanity. Should they be successful, no doubt the defense will be quick to grasp that as a means of saving the life of Alla. On the other hand, the prosecution has summoned expert alienists to be present, whose expert knowledge will be used to offset any claim of insanity that might be raised by Alla's attorney.

Conflicting Confessions.
With the question of insanity aside, people wonder what excuse or reason Alla could have had for wanting the life of the priest. In this connection his first confession, in which he admitted that he was an anarchist, comes to mind. Alla said he hated the priestly hood; that they kept the people poor because of exactions they made, while they themselves lived in luxury. He killed Father Leo because he was a priest, he declared. Another statement made by the murderer was to the effect that he sought vengeance upon an Italian member of the Catholic clergy who had been instrumental in putting down the anarchist riots in Alla's old home and had incurred his hatred there. He thought he recognized a sworn enemy in Father Leo. Alla, when told that he had murdered a German whom he had never seen or heard of before, professed to be very remorseful and fell on his knees and wept.

Claimed Priest Fell Dead.
A few days later the much-wrought-up murderer told another story, in which he declared that the death of Father Leo was a matter for which he was in no wise responsible; that the priest fell accidentally from the altar during the ceremony of the church and that he had fled in fear of the power that had suddenly struck down the priest. And this in spite of the fact that two men battled fiercely with Alla in the entrance way of the church before he was finally subdued and the pistol with which he had killed the priest in cold blood was wrested from him.

While conflicting stories make many believe Alla must be insane, others see in them the acting of a cunning criminal. The latter class point to the fact that Alla has a wonderful memory for dates and events connected with his past life, especially where they are such as might work to his interests in his present trouble.

Anarchist Question.
Doubtless the feature of the case of world-wide importance is that involving a plan for a general anarchistic uprising or wholesale murder of priests of the Catholic church. No definite proof has been unearthed in Alla's case that he is an anarchist, or that he belongs to any anti-clerical society. His first declaration that he was an anarchist, made in the spirit of the brag, was quickly repudiated and he has ever since persistently asserted that he had no connection with this revolutionary work.

On the face of it the trial promises to be one of simple proof of the crime, a verdict and sentencing of the criminal.

THREE LIFEERS MAKE A DASH FOR LIBERTY

Warden of Montana State Prison Frightfully Wounded.
ASSISTANT'S THROAT CUT FROM EAR TO EAR
TWO OF THE CONVICTS SHOT DOWN AND THE OTHER CAPTURED.

Deer Lodge, Mont., March 8.—Warden Frank Conley of the Montana state penitentiary was fearfully wounded this morning and his first assistant warden, John Robinson, was killed, when three life convicts, George Rock, W. H. Hayes and another, whose name is not given, made a dash for liberty in the penitentiary about 8 o'clock. It is thought the warden will live. Robinson's throat was cut from ear to ear and the jugular vein was severed. Conley's throat was gashed and he was stabbed several times in the shoulder and groin before he was able to draw his revolver and shoot two of the assistants down. Convicts Hayes and Rock were both shot down by Conley after the latter had been wounded.

Attack Long Planned.
The attack on the prison authorities and a subsequent effort to escape has, according to the prison authorities this afternoon, been long planned by Rock and Hayes, who were cellmates. Both were armed with pen knives, the blades of which were sharpened like razors. The three convicts were brought to the office of the penitentiary in the courtyard this morning at 8 o'clock by Deputy Warden Robinson, to be tried for some trivial infraction of the prison rules, and Conley was waiting to sit in judgment. Hayes had for several months been a "trusty" and had been given the position of turnkey. He had been placed in the same cell with Rock, because the authorities believed he would watch the latter, the most desperate convict in the institution.

Robinson's Throat Cut.
The moment the men entered the office door, Rock turned swiftly upon Robinson, who was closing the door behind the men, and, quickly drawing out a knife, he began slashing at the deputy warden's throat. Robinson was unable to retreat or move before his throat was cut wide open and he sank to the floor, dying. At the same moment that Rock attacked Robinson, Hayes also pulled out a knife similar to that of Rock and started for Conley. The latter retreated to the rear of the office before the oncoming desperado. Before Conley could draw his gun, however, Hayes had slashed his throat, cutting him from the left ear to a point under the chin. The convict, seeing his intended victim getting away, grappled with him and stabbed him several times in the shoulder and the groin.

Conley Was Game.
Although bleeding terribly, Conley managed to draw his gun from his pocket and fired four times with the weapon pressed against Hayes' abdomen. As Hayes sank to the floor, Rock rushed at Conley, who emptied the two remaining cartridges in his gun into Rock, and the latter also went down. The convict who had been called to the "carpet" took to his heels at the first of the battle, but was quickly captured and placed in his cell. The authorities refused to give out his name until they had investigated whether he was concerned in the plot or whether he had merely been called to the office at the same time as the other two.

Warden Pratt of the state penitentiary was deeply grieved to learn of the casualties in the Montana prison. Robinson was a friend of his and he is well acquainted with Conley. Warden Pratt said that neither Rock nor Hayes has a record in Utah, so far as he knows. Rock was shot twice through the shoulder and his neck was wounded, but it is believed they will recover.

SOCIALISTIC SPIELS ARE NOT APPRECIATED

San Francisco, March 8.—Acting under the orders of the chief of police, policemen stationed at Walton's pavilion this afternoon arrested Carl Brown, son-in-law of Coxe, of Coxe army fame, and himself a noted Socialist. He is being held on a charge of disturbing the peace. He was making an alleged inflammatory speech to a crowd of about a thousand people at the time of the arrest. The police have orders to bring in any persons who display any anarchistic tendencies or make public speeches of an anarchistic nature.

Kept a Close Secret.

"President Hanson further said that Mr. Harriman had purchased the stock with the intention of transferring it to the Illinois Central, but as the latter of that line was then in litigation it was his (Harriman's) desire that the Georgia railroad commission would not give out to the public that he had purchased the stock. The election of directors of the Illinois Central, an event then scheduled for December, was postponed from time to time and was finally held this week in Chicago, and Mr. Harriman having elected his own directors, the presumption is that the Georgia Central stock will be the property of the Illinois Central."

LENT—How It Looks at the Start.

KING ALFONSO TO VISIT BARCELONA IN SPITE OF ANARCHISTIC THREATS

Five Bomb Explosions Since January and the Madrid People Believe the Monarch's Trip Foolhardy.

Madrid, March 8.—King Alfonso will leave here tomorrow night for Barcelona, but the strictest security is observed as to which of the two routes the royal train will take. In the opinion of the public, the king's visit is foolhardy, but the cabinet believes that the danger is exaggerated and that the visit will prove beneficial politically. Queen Victoria will not accompany the king.

In addition to the troops who will line the routes wherever the king goes, practically all the civil guards in Spain, except detachments in Andalusia, are concentrated here and 500 police have been specially drafted for this service. Secret instructions have been issued to the police to search all persons wearing Spanish capes, under which, as was the case in the Lisbon tragedy, arms might be concealed. This will be King Alfonso's fourth visit to Barcelona. He came here first with his mother when a baby, on the occasion of the international exposition; next in 1905, when Premier Maury's life was attempted, and again last fall. While here he will greet the Austrian fleet and inaugurate an extensive scheme of street improvement.

The Austrian torpedo-boat destroyers Uskoke and Scharf Shutz, the advance guard of the Austrian fleet, arrived here today.

Barcelona, March 8.—The city is being extensively decorated and no official efforts will be spared to give King Alfonso a creditable and enthusiastic reception on his arrival here on Tuesday. Nevertheless, the greatest concern is felt as to the king's safety, owing to the activity of the Barcelona revolutionists and anarchists, who recently have created almost a reign of terror in this city. There have been five bomb explosions here since January 1 and not a single culprit has been caught. Only a few days ago placards were posted throughout the city stating that an attempt would be made upon the life of the king should he carry out his determination of visiting this city. The placards were torn down by the police, but the fear that an outrage will be attempted remains.

General Linarez, who was in command of the Spanish forces at Santiago and who is now captain general of Catalonia, will be in supreme command of the military arrangements, and in conjunction with Inspector Arrow, late of Scotland Yard, and now chief of police here, is taking every precaution to insure the safety of the king, who will be his personal guest.

EMMA COULD NOT SECURE A HALL

Chicago Police Prevent Speech by High Priestess of Anarchy.

Chicago, March 8.—Emma Goldman, expounder of the doctrines of anarchy, did not make a public address in Chicago today, as it had been her announced purpose to do. Strict orders issued by the police during the week to owners and managers of public halls to left her without a place in which to hold a meeting. To guard against a surprise, however, police were detailed to watch all gatherings of social associates and anarchists, but reports tonight from all quarters indicated that no attempt was made by her to violate the police injunction against public speaking. Special attention was paid by the police to a concert and meeting held in a hall at North Clark and Erie streets, where many anarchists were known to be among the attendees, and there it was said to have been advertised that Miss Goldman would appear. No demonstration of any sort occurred, and no arrests were made.

An attempt by members of the "Social Science league," a radical organization, to hold a meeting in a room in the Masonic temple was frustrated by the police tonight. Some 200 members of the society gathered in expectation of hearing a speech by Miss Goldman, not knowing that permission to hold the meeting had been denied by the agent of the building. Upon refusal by some of the disappointed ones to disperse when ordered by the watchman to do so, the police were summoned and the hall was cleared.

AUTOS CRASHED TOGETHER

Big Touring Car of C. B. Jennings of This City in Collision at Los Angeles—Owner Not Abroad.
(Special to The Herald.)
Los Angeles, March 8.—The lives of six persons were endangered tonight when the big touring car owned by C. B. Jennings, a Salt Lake millionaire, collided with another car driven by J. D. Clark, contractor of this city. The Jennings auto, driven by Mrs. Anna Crawford, a resident of Los Angeles, was running about thirty-five miles an hour, when at a street intersection it collided with Clark's car. Silas Christensen, Jennings' chauffeur, was in the auto at the time. The Jennings car crashed into the sidewalk, but fortunately was not overturned and the occupants escaped injury. The other machine was badly wrecked. Mr. Jennings was not in the automobile at the time of the accident. He is a guest at the Alexandria hotel in this city.

NOVELIST MEETS KING.

Rome, March 8.—King Victor Emmanuel today received in private audience William Dean Howells, the American novelist, entertaining him in a most cordial manner for half an hour. The king was deeply interested in the presidential campaign in the United States and the course of the American fleet to the Pacific.

REASON NOT MYSTERIOUS

Attorney General Bonaparte's View of Western Maryland Railroad Receivership.
Baltimore, March 8.—Attorney General Bonaparte was asked today whether he thought the Western Maryland railroad receivership was due to the so-called "Commodities clause" of the Hepburn law.

"As to the cause of that receivership I know no more than your readers generally," replied the attorney general, "but as the 'Commodities clause' is not altogether operative, it has prevented the company from meeting its obligations on April 1."

DEFENSE OF JEROME WOULD FILL A BOOK

New York, March 8.—District Attorney Jerome will leave for Albany tomorrow to tender to Governor Hughes his answer to the charges filed with the governor by W. F. King, former president of the Merchants' association.

WEATHER BITTERLY COLD

Minnesota and the Dakotas Shivering, With Thermometers Ranging From 4 to 25 Below.
St. Paul, March 8.—Extremely cold weather prevailed throughout the northwest last night and today, the warmest place in this region being St. Paul, where the temperature was 4 degrees below zero this morning at 8 o'clock.

BLANKET INJUNCTION.

United States Court Puts Finishing Touches on Goldfield Miners.
Reno, Nev., March 8.—Judge Farrington of the United States district court has handed down his decision in the suit brought by the owners of the Mergers mines of Goldfield against the miners' union, granting a blanket injunction against the miners. This is an unqualified victory for the mine owners.

APPOLOGY FROM CHINA TO JAPAN

Flowery Kingdom Sorry the Mikado's Flag Was Hauled Down.

OFFICERS TO BE PUNISHED

MATTER OF SEIZURE OF TATSU MARU NOT YET SETTLED.

London, March 8.—A special dispatch received here today that China has expressed deep regret for hauling down the Japanese flag on the Tatsu Maru and has promised to punish the officers responsible for the act. It has further stated that China had promised to reply later concerning the seizure of arms.

Pekin, March 8.—The Japanese and Chinese governments have not yet come to an understanding in the matter of the seizure of the Tatsu Maru, and the Chinese minister of foreign affairs maintains that the case cannot be settled without a thorough inquiry into the facts. China has successfully temporized for two days, and today a member of the board of foreign affairs and the Japanese minister, Baron Hayashi, had a lengthy conference with regard to the disposition of the cargo of the steamer if it were restored.

FEELING AT TOKIO.

Japs Believe Fate Impels Them to Jump Onto China.

Tokio, March 8.—The fates seem almost resolved to embroil Japan and China by fair means or foul. No sooner does one diplomatic issue appear to be on the eve of satisfactory settlement than another one crops up to prolong the agony and keep the Tokio foreign office and the Chinese foreign board more or less busy. The boundary, the Tsin-Min-Tun-Fukumen railway, the North Manchurian customs and the telegraph questions—all these have now ceased to excite much concern in the minds of those who can see below the surface of the political current, but, on the other hand, as though the Chinese themselves were determined to furnish the Japanese opposition with its strongest arguments in favor of more spirited policy toward the middle kingdom, Chinese warships have seized a Japanese merchant steamer—the Tatsu Maru—in Chinese territorial waters, just outside Macao harbor, and escorted her to Canton on the charge that she was engaged in an attempt to smuggle arms and ammunition into China. To add to the irritation inseparable from such a course of action, the Chinese command has hauled down the Japanese flag en route and ran up the Chinese dragon ensign in its stead.

Facts Cut No Figure.

The Japanese foreign office has demanded the immediate release of the Tatsu Maru and the punishment of the officials responsible for her seizure. Quite irrespective of the merits of the case, the Japanese minister maintains that the action of the Chinese authorities in seizing the steamer and hauling down the Japanese flag was an insult to Japan.

The facts of the case, as nearly as can be ascertained from both sides, appear to be these: The Japanese contention is that the vessel left Kobe on January 26, with 34 cases of rifles and 40 cases of ammunition consigned by the Ataka Shokai of Osaka to Messrs. Kwong Yo & Co., Macao, who are licensed by the Macao government to deal in arms.

ANCHORED OUTSIDE HARBOR.

It is asserted that the Ataka Shokai had obtained the necessary permission of the Macao authorities with regard to the arms and ammunition, and that the usual customs and police formalities had been complied with at Kobe. The fact that the Tatsu Maru anchored outside Macao harbor is explained by the statement that her draft was too great to permit her to enter the harbor in safety and that the intention of the captain and the consignees was to have the cargo discharged into lighters. According to the captain's story, the vessel was surrounded by four Chinese gunboats and

2 TRUSTED MEN ARE IN CUSTODY AS DEFAULTERS

New York Sleuths Lodge Captured Private Secretaries in Salt Lake Jail.

EN ROUTE EAST WITH HIGH CLASS PRISONERS

GREEN AND HAVENITH ARE CHARGED WITH ROBBING EMPLOYERS.

Two private secretaries of New York millionaires spent last night in the Salt Lake city jail. They were Howard Carter Green, private secretary of Jas. C. Fargo, president of the Wells Fargo Express company, and Albert O. Havenith, private secretary of A. S. Mallett, president of the A. S. Mallett Construction company.

Both of the private secretaries are charged with forgery and grand larceny. They are being taken back to New York for trial by Lieutenant Bernard A. Flood and Lieutenant Dominick G. Riley of Inspector McCafferty's staff of detectives. Their achievement in capturing the two private secretaries was one of the best pieces of detective work done in recent years.

Says He's a Baron.

Havenith is said to have misappropriated between $10,000 and $15,000 of Mr. Mallett's money. He claims to be a German baron and a former lieutenant in the German army. He is described as a sort of social highwayman. It is alleged that he stole $100,000 of Mallett's money to defray the expense of an effort to break into New York society and capture an heiress. On his salary as private secretary he kept blooded trotting horses and a steam yacht. In Los Angeles, where he was captured, his mania for society again showed itself. When he was taken into custody he was paying attentions to a wealthy woman of that city.

Green's father is a wealthy man, residing at Pleasanton, N. J. He is general manager of the Goodyear Rubber company. Young Green moved in good society in New York and the New Jersey suburbs of the metropolis. He is 27 years old, and, up to the time of his flight from New York, had every promise of a bright and successful career. His speculations are said to have extended through the greater part of last year, beginning as early as last April. But when he disappeared about six weeks ago, suspicion that his accounts were in a tangle was just beginning to dawn upon Mr. Fargo. An expert was put on his books, and the honest irregularities revealed, resulted in four indictments being returned against young Green by the New York grand jury.

Operations of Green.

Green is accused of forging Mr. Fargo's name to checks received through the mail. Instead of depositing them at the Knickerbocker Trust company, where Fargo had his account, it is said, he took them to the New Amsterdam bank, where Green had private accounts. One of the duties of the private secretary was to collect the rent for a number of houses in West One Hundred and Thirtieth street, New York, which are owned by Fargo. The rental aggregates between $3,000 and $4,000 a month. It is claimed that for four months before his flight, Green pocketed all the money received from this source. This was in addition to the checks on which he is accused of forging Fargo's name. One of these checks was for $2,000 and another for $750.

The private secretary disappeared from New York on the day President Barney of the Knickerbocker Trust company committed suicide. He dropped completely out of sight. Then the New York detective working on the case learned that he had gone to Oregon and was at a town called Rainier, twelve miles north of Portland. Lieutenants Flood and Riley were sent west to catch him. They found him working in an engineering party of the Portland Lumber company, under the name of Howard Carter. When taken

CENTRAL OF GEORGIA RAILROAD TO BECOME PART OF HARRIMAN SYSTEM

Macon, Ga., March 8.—Chairman McEnnon, of the Georgia railroad commission, has made public a signed statement in which he gives reasons for his conclusions that E. H. Harriman, and his Central of Georgia stock to the Illinois Central and make the Georgia Central, a part of the latter system.

Owned by Harriman.
Mr. McEnnon says that President Hanson of the Georgia Central appeared before his board November 8, 1897, and stated that by direction of E. H. Harriman he appeared before the commission to say that while the stock of the Central, all except a few shares, stood on the books of the company in the names of Oakleigh Thorne and Marsden J. Perry, it in fact was owned by E. H. Harriman, having been purchased by him on June 16, 1897, from the Southern Railway

SUICIDE OF CAPTAIN D. J. AINSWORTH IN BATHROOM OF REVENUE CUTTER

Seattle, Wash., March 8.—For some reason, so far unexplained, Capt. Daniel J. Ainsworth, commander of the revenue cutter Russ, committed suicide at an early hour this morning. The act was committed in the bathroom of the vessel. The room door was locked and to gain entrance, First Lieutenant Abner was forced to break in through the window. He found the dead body lying on the floor with a bullet hole in the head. The corpse was lying in front of a mirror and a revolver lay where it had apparently fallen from the hand that pulled the trigger.

Cause of Suicide Unknown.
No one had heard the shot. No one aboard the vessel will venture an opinion as to what impelled the suicide other than to say that within the past few days the captain had been worried and had acted strangely. A court-martial was

In Service Since 1883.
Captain Ainsworth was 45 years of age, and unmarried. He was born in Boston and entered the revenue cutter service in 1883 and was assigned to his first work in 1886, as third lieutenant on the cutter Dexter at Newport, R. I. Fourteen years ago he served several months as governor of Pribiloff islands. The command of the Russ, to which he was appointed December 25, 1898, was his first assignment as captain.
